Conference Delegates Now In Ottawa Party Welcomed By Premier and Members Of Federal Cabinet

Canadian Capital Centre of World's Spotlight as Empire Traders Assemble

Acting Chief

GREAT CONCLAVE OPENS THURSDAY

Ottawa, Ont., July 19.—Delegates to the Imperial Conference from Great Britain, India, South Africa, Rhodesia and Northern Ireland arrived in Ottawa this morning.

The first train bearing the delegates to the conference reached Ottawa at 8.40.

On the platform to meet the first train was Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and practically all members of the Dominion cabinet, at present in Ottawa.

The Prime Minister smilingly greeted Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the British delegation, and went on board for a few minutes with him before the British delegation left the train.

The meeting at the station was informal and the delegates proceeded through a smiling, clapping crowd to the hotel.

The Prime Minister led the procession with Mr. Baldwin. At one or two points along the way they were stopped by photographers, but there was no interruption.

Among the British delegates was Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas.

Because of their picturesque costumes, the Indian delegates attracted much attention.

The ladies in the party were greeted by Mrs. Herridge, wife of the Canadian Minister to Washington.

After a few minutes in the hotel lobby, the various delegations were shown their apartments and given a chance to settle down after the journey.

The second train, bearing the official advisers to the various delegations, reached the city at 10.15 a.m. On board this train also were Rt. Hon. L. C. M. S. Amery.

With this special train traveled scores of newspapermen. They were welcomed by the Prime Minister, Mrs. Herridge, sister of the Premier and wife of the Canadian Minister to Washington, Hon. W. D. Herridge, and practically all the members of the cabinet.

HENRY CHANGES TARIFF VIEWS

Must Lower Barriers of Protection, Ontario Premier Declares

Country Must Face Reasonable Competition From Within Empire

Toronto, July 19.—"We must realize that if Canada is to sell to the other parts of the Empire, Canada must be prepared to lower the barriers of protection," declared Premier George S. Henry at a dinner here yesterday evening.

"We must throw overboard many of our old beliefs," he said in the course of his address. "England threw overboard her free trade theories and substituted, not tariffs, but trade protection that achieved the same object."

Now we have the Mother Country coming to us and sitting in conference with the other Dominions. We must realize that if Canada is to sell to other parts of the Empire, Canada must be prepared to lower the barriers of protection.

To my mind the first thought must be to find a market for our surplus agricultural products. Primarily we are an agricultural people. And I believe that even agriculture must be prepared to face reasonable competition from within the Empire.

"Some of our manufacturers must allow themselves to come into competition with goods from sister dominions, for we cannot expect others to buy from us unless we are prepared to take from them what they have to sell," said Premier Henry.

On the platform to meet the first train was Prime Minister R. B. Bennett and practically all members of the Dominion cabinet, at present in Ottawa.

The Prime Minister smilingly greeted Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the British delegation, and went on board for a few minutes with him before the British delegation left the train.

Boy Swallows Auto Keys Teachers Face Salary Cut In Alberta City

Calgary, Alta., July 19.—Calgary school teachers are faced with a salary cut ranging from 5 to 14 per cent. The finance committee of the Calgary school board has decided to request teachers to accept the voluntary cut because of financial conditions.

Calgary, Alta., July 19.—"Where," demanded W. R. Rothe, "are the keys to the car?"

"I don't know where I put those keys," replied his nine-year-old son, Charles. "Unless I swallowed them."

It developed that Charles had a physician in keeping tab on the keys with daily X-ray pictures. There have been no ill effects.

Star Swimmer Is Victorian Proud Grandfather Explains

Victorians will learn with a great deal of satisfaction that this city can claim as a native son Munroe Bourne, the clean-cut young swimmer of the Montreal Athletic Association, who represented Canada in the Olympic Games at Amsterdam in 1928, and who smashed swimming records in the Canadian trials at the Crystal Garden yesterday evening.

Munroe Miller, widely-known and highly-respected pioneer of Victoria, who is the eighty-five-year-old grandfather of young Bourne, was at the gala yesterday, glowing with pride and cherishing to the echo when Bourne for the second time in his brilliant sports career won the right to represent Canada at the Olympic Games by shattering the 100-yard backstroke record and the 220 freestyle record.

Of all the congratulations young Bourne received afterwards none was more enthusiastic or more appreciated than those from his proud grandfather, who had not met for a number of years and held a jolly reunion afterwards.

"We was at my house. We're great chums," Mr. Miller commented. "This morning Mr. Miller brought his fine record to sports."

Victoria Wins Place On Swimming Map

Victoria's first Canadian championship swimming gala staged at the Crystal Garden yesterday evening proved an outstanding success from every angle.

The attendance crowded the seating capacity of the gardens to the limit and calibre of competition was of the highest. The financial end of the meet was reported to be satisfactory and officials were greatly pleased with the support given by the citizens of Victoria.

Yesterday evening's large attendance has demonstrated Victoria can support competitions of such a large nature, officials said. Bringing of athletes from all parts of Canada to this city for such a meet meant a great deal of expenditure, but the large turn out provided sufficient funds to meet all needs.

Swimmers and divers from eastern Canada had nothing but the best in manner in which the gala was conducted and the accommodations at the Crystal Garden.

Much credit must be given to Victoria officials for the snappy way in which the various events were run off yesterday evening. On the completion of one event the contenders were all lined up for the next and ready to go. Details of the events will be found on the sport pages.

Wheat Crop Is Ripening

Ottawa, Ont., July 19.—Nearly all western Canada's wheat crop is in head and in the earliest districts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan filling and ripening are under way. Wheat cutting is due to start about the first of August, states a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics this afternoon.

Still greater variation in western crop prospects became evident during the last week, says the report. The lack of reserve moisture has led to some burning of early wheat in the recent absence of effective rains, mainly in southern and central Saskatchewan, southern Alberta and the Peace River district. There was a notable improvement on conditions in southern Manitoba and generally optimistic reports came from most of northern Saskatchewan and the entire central region of Alberta.

Hungerford Is Named As Acting Chief Until His Successor Is Appointed

THANKS MEN FOR LOYALTY

Most Accomplished By Co-operative Spirit, Says Sir Henry Thornton

Steps Out to Give Government Free Hand in Policy

Montreal, Que., July 19 (By Canadian Press).—In tendering his resignation as president of the Canadian National Railway, Sir Henry Thornton issued the following statement to-day:

"I have had under consideration the railway situation which has arisen largely by reason of published criticism of the expenditures of the Canadian National Railway during my regime. I feel it is only fair to point out that all capital expenditures were only made after careful consideration by myself and the chief officers of the company, and represented our views of what was necessary for the welfare of the enterprise. These expenses were, of course, controllable by the government, I, however, feel that the successful operation of this enterprise can only be carried on if the country as a whole is heartily behind the management, and in view of this and the possibility of the government wishing to consider their policy I feel that, in order to give them a free hand, I should submit my resignation."

CHERISHED RECOLLECTIONS
In leaving the service of the Canadian National Railway I especially desire to thank the officers and the men with whom I have been associated for nearly ten years for the loyalty, enthusiasm and ability which all have given with a generous hand to the enterprise and myself I shall always cherish the happiest recollections of my contact with those in the service of the company, and I may add with truth that whatever has been accomplished has been very largely due to the co-operative spirit displayed by all from the highest to the lowest.

HIAM BACK FROM CHINA

C.N.R. Official Served as Railway Advisor to League of Nations' Commission

"Until the report of the commission is made public, I am unable to discuss any official matters dealing with my trip to Manchuria," stated Col. T. A. Hiam, special representative on the Pacific Coast of the president of the Canadian National Railway, with headquarters in Vancouver, who returned to British Columbia this morning from the Orient by the liner Empress of Japan.

Colonel Hiam sailed from Victoria in March by the St. Empress of Russia for the Far East to be Canadian railway adviser to the Earl of Lytton's commission investigating railway in the recently troubled zone of Manchuria.

While in the Far East he, in company with other members of the commission, visited every part of Manchuria.

Ponca City, Okla., July 19.—When Al Capone completes his sentence in the Atlanta Federal Prison, he may become overlord of Oklahoma's 17,000-acre 101 ranch.

Col. Zack Miller, last of the pioneer family which built the ranch into a western palace, to-day confirmed reports negotiations were in progress for sale of the property to the former Chicago gang leader, his brother, Ralph, and associates.

RESIGNS

Want of Confidence By Owners, Criticism, Economic Depression and Investigating Commission Given as Reasons For Resignation By Sir Henry

STATEMENT ISSUED BY MINISTER OF RAILWAYS

New Directing Head Has Been the Operating Executive of Government Lines Since Consolidation in 1923

Ottawa, July 19 (By Canadian Press).—Sir Henry Thornton has resigned as president of the Canadian National Railway.

S. J. Hungerford, vice-president, will be acting president.

Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, made the following announcement:

"It is true that Sir Henry Thornton has resigned his position as president and chairman of the Canadian National Railway."

Dr. Manion continued: "In a letter written to me as Minister of Railways, he says:

"In my opinion a publicly-owned railway can only be successfully directed if the management has the complete confidence of the owners of the property. The public criticism to which I have referred indicates that such confidence is, at least, not general, and in this period of financial depression, and in view of the further fact that a royal commission is investigating the whole railway situation of the country, I feel that I should tender my resignation."

HUNGERFORD TO CARRY ON
Both the board of directors and the government have accepted the resignation of Sir Henry, the minister said. "Until a successor is appointed," Dr. Manion proceeded, "we expect the vice-president in charge of operation and construction, S. J. Hungerford, to carry on as acting president."

"As Mr. Hungerford has been the operating head of the Canadian National Railway since its consolidation in 1923, and was assistant vice-president of the Canadian National Railway at Toronto as far back as 1919, and as he has spent his life in railway work and has the confidence of the officers and men, his being appointed acting president will be, we are sure, generally acceptable. We will have the same power and authority as the president to operate and administer the Canadian National Railway in their best interest and in the interest of the people of Canada, without political or other interference of any kind, the government in this take the same attitude as that which we have taken since coming into power."

CALLS FOR SUPPORT
"Mr. Hungerford is one of the outstanding railway men of this continent, and we hope the rank and file of the Canadian National Railway will continue to show to him and the railway that same loyalty and co-operation which they have shown in the years during which they have been employed. Knowing that in this way they can best serve the railway organization of the Ontario Supreme Court action of which they are a part. No one doubts or has questioned their fine efforts to serve the Canadian Rail." (Turn to Page 2, Col. 7)

China Willing To Settle Manchuria

Argentina And U.S. Watching Ottawa Closely

Washington, July 19.—The United States and Argentina probably will be the two most interested nations outside the Commonwealth which will watch from the sidelines developments of the Imperial Conference at Ottawa.

In the United States, manufacturing and commercial leaders, economists and statesmen will pay close attention to proceedings which may affect trade with Canada, the United States best customer. Argentina's Supreme Court centred on the proposed Empire tariff readjustment which may affect adversely the market for meat and grain she has held so long in Great Britain.

Lacking official observers at the conference, both countries will keep in close touch with the discussions through diplomatic or consular officials in Ottawa.

But Her Principles Must Not Be Tampered With, Chinese Ambassador Says

High Official in Oriental Diplomatic Corps Arrives Here Aboard Empress of Japan

"China is settling down slowly and tackling her fundamental problems, both domestic and foreign. There are tremendous issues at stake, but we are facing them squarely and are determined to put our house in order and introduce local self government," stated His Excellency, Dr. Tai-Chi Quo, newly appointed Chinese Ambassador to the Court of St. James in London, who passed through Victoria this morning as a passenger aboard the liner Empress of Japan. He was accompanied by Mrs. Quo and members of his suite. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

Japan Starts New Drive In Manchuria

Jehol, Last Unoccupied Section, Invaded; Clash Follows Expedition Reported Organized to Rescue Japanese Army Officer

Tokio, July 19.—The Japanese army has begun an invasion of the province of Jehol, last unoccupied section of Manchuria, and clashed there with Chinese troops.

Dispatches from Mukden said a battle occurred just inside the Jehol boundary line. Although details were lacking, the Japanese were said to have driven back the Jehol troops and started to march to Peipiao, a branch terminus of the Mukden-Chinchow Railway.

The purpose of the expedition was reported to be the rescue of Gonshiro Ishimoto, a former Japanese army officer, believed captured by the Chinese near Peipiao.

A dispatch to the newspaper Asahi from Mukden said Ishimoto, now a civilian employee of the army, was sent to Peipiao some time ago to arrange for the selling of opium from (Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

CALGARY TO CUT OFF SINGLE MEN

Calgary, July 19.—Calgary City Council has decided to cut single unemployed off relief lists at the end of July. At a hectic meeting the council decided the financial burden caused by unemployed relief was too great and that to carry on the city must drop the single relief.

POLICE HAUL VALUED $1,500

While George Kitchener, self-confessed twenty-year-old burglar, was confined to-day in a cell at police headquarters, awaiting arraignment on a score of charges, city detectives and Oak Bay police pursued investigations into his alleged activities, said to extend over a period of a year and a half.

Faced with the problem of finding the owners of various articles of jewelry and other goods seized in raid Sunday evening on the accused's home, detectives announced this morning that while numerous articles had been identified, there were several for which no owners had been found.

Value of the material seized was placed at between $1,000 and $1,500 in a rough estimate. The task of sorting it out was a difficult one.

Police questioning extended to several friends of the accused, who it was believed, had been given articles by him.

Among the goods not yet identified are eleven watches, including men's pocket watches and men's and women's wrist watches, a crystal drop pendant, four or five bar brooches, two revolvers, pearl necklace, several rings and other minor articles.

Brescia, Italy, July 19.—The flood waters of the Vrenda River, pouring down in the Sabbia Valley, yesterday evening, routed inhabitants of the town of Odolo from their beds and crushed three bridges.
A panic followed when the electric lights in the town were extinguished during the storm. The wall of the St.

Bartholomew Church was knocked down, the church flooded and the main road was buried outside the town by a landslide.
Five men were rescued from an

Problem of Heavy Guns and Land Artillery Not Yet Solved

Associated Press
Geneva, Switzerland, July 19.—
Delegates to the World Disarmament Conference to-day were close to agreement on the resolution to be adopted before the first phase of the conference ends and the deliberations adjourn. The problem of heavy mobile guns and land artillery is not yet solved, however.

British and French delegates favor a plan whereby reduction or elimination should apply only to naval guns.
United States representatives are concentrating on abolition of heavy land artillery.
Overnight, Premier Edouard Herriot of France, and Hugh Gibson, head of the United States contingent, reached an understanding regarding deliberations as to the treatment of the question of effective troops.
The proposal substantially to reduce effectives will be made the subject of inter-provincial conversations during the conference recess.

he has been eminently successful in establishing an esprit de corps among the thousands of employees and officials of the far-flung activities of the system. He is an excellent public speaker. Few men can put their ideas more succinctly or in more picturesque language. As to his capacity as a railway chief executive, the progress of the Canadian National is perhaps the best evidence.

Sir Henry Thornton has played an important part in Canadian life since his appointment as president of the Canadian National Railways and affiliated companies in October, 1922.
He is a big man physically with a ruddy face that radiates good humor. He soon became known from one end of Canada to the other. His position as head of the C.N.R. necessitated his traveling a great deal both in Canada and the United States.

Sir Henry was born in Indiana and had his early railway experience in his native country. In 1914 he was appointed general manager of the Great Eastern Railway in England and remained in the United Kingdom from that time until his appointment to the C.N.R. He was knighted for his services in the transportation and communication services in the British army during the war.

RECALLS OLD CUTTER BEAR

Retired Local Captain Tells of Sealing Days When Bear
Was First Known

Recent stories of the old cutter Bear being reconditioned to take Bear-Admiral Byrd to the Antarctic next season have recalled old sealing days.
When the Bear was one of the crack ships, to Capt. D. J. Butler, retired captain now living in Victoria. In the following terms he tells his story:
"A reference recently to the Arctic steamer Bear brought my mind the early history of the old ship. The sealing ship's work was to fight the ice-floes, and in the end the floes conquered nearly all of them. The Bear alone of all the Greave fleet is still afloat. Built in Scotland in 1874, she made her maiden trip in the sealing trade that spring. With a crew of 270 men her catch that first year was 12,563 seals.
In 1884, her last year in the sealing trade, she brought into port 30,884 seals. Her master on that trip was C.
Daw, and she had a crew of 307 men.
Her total catch while sealing amounted to 124,861 seals.
"It is likely some dare-devil skipper would have finished her years ago, but she escaped that fate when the United States Government bought her. Just a word about her sister ship, the
No. 1, lost in 1871, the Tiger in 1884, the Tigress in 1875, the Leopard in 1907, the Wolf No. 2 in 1896, the Panther in 1908, the Lion with all her crew in 1882. Forty other stout steamships, besides scores of sailing ships of earlier days, lie at the bottom of the sea. The masters of most of them, out to seals, did not spare their ships. One old brig left her yards on the ice, just giving her crew time to jump as she went down.
"In the spring of 1884 Commander Scheley was sent to Newfoundland with orders from the United States Government to spare no expense to secure ships to aid the Greave party. The Bear and the Thetis were bought and hurriedly made ready. A big crew of picked men was signed on and the ships left for the rescue of Greave and his men. The British Government loaned its fine Arctic ship Alert. The three ships, accompanied by the Loch Garry, which carried a load of coal, forced the ice floes in Arctic waters, at last reaching Cape Sabine where the few survivors of the Greave party were located. Later the Bear and the Thetis majestically steamed into New York harbor and were welcomed by great crowds and a band.
"Home again, the Alert was sent to Halifax and the Thetis and the Bear went to the Pacific Coast. Years later the Thetis was sold to her original owners and went sealing again and the old Bear, not to be outdone, is going to fight the ice again in a new part of the world. It is to be hoped she will win out.
"The largest and most powerful sealer in St. Johns in 1882 was the Proteus. She was chartered that year by the United States Government and took the Greave party up Davis Strait.
After landing the party she returned to her home port. The following year she was again chartered after her return from the sealing grounds. That time she got caught in the ice of Davis Strait and her end came quickly. She was only eight years old and she went down with the supplies for the Greave party. The Neptune was quickly dispatched then, but was unable to aid the men.

WHEAT QUOTA IN GT. BRITAIN

Manitoba Leader Makes Public Brief For Ottawa
Conference

Free Entry For Canadian Dairy Products in Britain
Urged

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Man., July 19.—An advantage to Canadian wheat producers could come from a wheat quota in Great Britain in the opinion of the government of Manitoba. The opinion is based on the fact that Canada's export surplus of wheat exceeds Great Britain's import requirements.
Premier John Bracken yesterday evening made public the brief his government is submitting to the Dominion Government in connection with the Imperial Economic Conference. The brief also urged that Canadian dairy products be allowed free entry into the British market and removal of present restrictions on Canadian exports of livestock to Great Britain.

CONSISTENT VIEW
While the government announcement yesterday is the first criticism of the wheat quota proposal from a government source it gives expression to the view consistently held by farm organizations and grain dealers in western Canada. A conference of representatives of all branches of agriculture was called by the Manitoba Government last May and decided a wheat quota was "not desirable," although a serious need for wider markets for wheat existed.
On the findings of this conference the Manitoba Government based its brief. It was discussed at a western inter-provincial conference at Regina last month but a spokesman for the conference said the joint brief to be submitted to Ottawa by the governments of western Canada would not deal with the merits of the wheat quota.

Calgary, Alta., July 19.—Farm organization heads of Alberta fail to see what advantage a wheat quota in Great Britain would be to the Canadian wheat grower.
Henry Wise Wood, veteran chairman of the Alberta Wheat Pool, agreed with the Manitoba government stand that a wheat quota was "not desirable" due to the fact that Canada's exportable wheat surplus exceeded the empire's requirements.
"I don't see that it would be of any special benefit," Mr. Wood said. "It would not increase the world's demand nor decrease the present world surplus."
A wider market for Canadian wheat was required, he concluded.

EPILEPSY
These people gradually store poisons in the system, due to some disfunc-tion of the system. When sufficient poisons accumulate the excessive activity of a fit burns the poisons with temporary relief until the toxins accumulate again.
A combination of eliminative measures relieves many of these cases and offers them their greatest hope.

A Special Message for Professional Men

THE strain under which professional people labor nowadays is causing them to retire earlier if they would enjoy the later years of life.

Present economic conditions are hitting most professional men hard; collections are slow, and what had been saved and invested, in many cases, is sadly depleted. Despite these facts, such men can retire if they have Life Insurance for that purpose.

The possibility of forced retirement through accident or disease makes London Life policies with Total Disability provision particularly valuable.

There is a threefold purpose served by the proposition about which we should like to tell you:

- (1) Provision for your retirement.
- (2) An income if totally disabled.
- (3) Provision for your family if you should die prematurely.

Use the coupon to get all the facts.

BRIDGE HAS SAFE MARGIN

Engineer Assures Council of Safety of Point Ellice Bridge

In response to a request from Mayor Leeming, City Engineer F. M. Preston yesterday evening submitted to the City Council a report showing the safety margin existing at Point Ellice Bridge, despite the recent addition of a further load by laying of a thirty-inch water main across one sidewalk. The mayor had pointed out that some citizens had expressed fear at crossing the bridge in street cars since the additional load was placed upon it.

The engineer's report reads as follows: "The sidewalks on Point Ellice Bridge were designed for a total moving or live load of 800 pounds per lineal foot, which is equivalent to a dead load, as represented by the water pipe, of 225 pounds per lineal foot. The actual weight of the pipe and its included water is 475 pounds per lineal foot.

"The bridge has always been kept painted and has been inspected twice by an outside expert since its construction and there is no reason to suspect that its strength has decreased. Therefore there is an ample margin of safety at the present time.

"The trusses themselves were designed for an equivalent dead load transferred from the sidewalks of 400 pounds per lineal foot together with complete string of street cars and the roadway loaded also, and it will therefore be seen that even if this extra roadway loading should occur the bridge will still be safe.

Caledonia Avenue Surfacing Delayed

Surfacing of Caledonia Avenue, between Quadra and Cook Streets from the Royal Athletic Park entrance, will not be done this year, the public works committee of the City Council decided yesterday evening. The cost of the work, fixed by City Engineer F. M. Preston at $8,400, is prohibitive at this time, but the project was referred to next year's council for consideration.

In the meantime, minor repairs will

SALE OF BONDS IS COMPLETED

City Disposes of Another
$200,000 of Relief Loan

Sale of $200,000 City of Victoria bonds, the second block of the city's $800,000 relief loan issue, to Wood, Gundy & Co., Robb, Robertson & Birch and Pemberton & Son, Vancouver Limited, was completed by the City Council yesterday evening.

The price of the sale was 92.99 and accrued interest. The sale completes the $800,000 bond issue and the remaining $200,000 over the counter.

The following purchases of bonds for sinking fund purposes were authorized: $100,000 City of Victoria 5 per cent bonds at 92.75 from Burns & Wainwright; $20,000 City of Victoria 5 1/2 per cent bonds at 98.57 from A. E. Ames & Co.

WARNS NEED FOR ECONOMY

Mayor Tells Council City Must Continue Rigid Expenditure Care

Mayor Leeming yesterday evening issued a warning to members of the City Council regarding the need for a continued exercise of economy in expenditures during the last six months of the year.

The Mayor's statement came during consideration of a proposed $800 seven per cent bond issue. He advised against spending the money unless it was absolutely necessary. "The more money we can carry over till next year as a surplus the better condition we will be in because things are not improving. We do not know just what the next six months will bring. The Provincial Government intends to cut down on our relief allowances and we must be careful," he said.

PYROIL AID TO CAR OPERATION

Graphite Lubrication Made Available to Motorists; Striking Efficiency Is Claimed

City-wide distribution of "Pyroil," a perfected form of graphite lubrication for automobiles, is being organized by Pyroil Agencies (B.C.), of which J. Ernest Anderson is organizing manager. The new lubrication service will be provided by the leading service stations and garages, Pyroil being added to gasoline or oil when those supplies are purchased by the motorist.

Pyroil is internationally advertised, and many motorists who have used this product in other cities are expected to welcome the opportunity to again secure improved lubrication so assured. Pyroil is a perfected form of graphite, manufactured by a patented process by the Pyroil Company of Lacrosse, Wisconsin. Mr. Anderson states he has hopes that if sufficient support is forthcoming from the motoring public he will be able to establish a Canadian factory in Victoria, from which to supply Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and the Far East. The display stands with which distributors are equipped, all printing and other incidentals, are products of local firms.

REMARKABLE RESULTS
Many remarkable lubrication results are claimed for Pyroil, and affidavits testify that cars so treated have been safely operated for long runs without oil. At Biglin, Ill., a run of 218.7 miles was made by a car without oil. A run of 206.8 miles was recorded at Manhattan, Kansas, and at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, a car traveled 161 miles without engine oil. Mr. Anderson states that these records have been certified by civic officials, secretaries of automobile clubs, lawyers and mechanics.

A remarkable test with a Pyroil-treated aeroplane was conducted on June 5 last at Winnipeg, Minn., when Pilot Gerald Kohner of the Conrad Flying Service flew a Pyroil-conditioned Sparrow plane for thirty-five minutes without oil in the crank-case. No damage was done to the motor, expert witnesses testified after the trial.

Mr. Anderson states that all outboard motor-boat records are held by users of Pyroil. The recent new world record of 26.525 miles an hour, set by Tommy Eastlick at Salton Sea, Cal., was made with Pyroil, as was the five-mile record for class C hydroplanes, held by Guy Graham of Vancouver.

WORKLESS PLEA AT ESQUIMALT

Delegation Appeals For Aid
From Municipal Council

The problem of unemployment was again discussed by Esquimalt Council yesterday evening when four members of the Esquimalt Unemployed Council were told there was no work, no money to pay for work and little hope of work in the near future.

The unemployed delegation consisted of Hans Kroeger, John Irving, Edward Irving, his son, and Frank Holder.

Before the delegation was heard a letter was read from the Unemployed Council pointing out that some jobs had been received only one week's work all year and that others had received none. This fact was borne out by Council George Wise, chairman of the committee handling relief work at the drydock. Mr. Wise also said the number receiving work at the drydock under the relief scheme had been reduced from an original sixty-four to five.

John Irving wanted to know whether the provincial government was going to do anything about the situation.

Reeve Heald: As far as I know, nothing.

Mr. Irving: Has the council asked them if they are going to do anything? Reeve Heald: Many times and so has the Union of B.C. Municipalities. But Mr. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works, told the union there was very little hope.

IS CHECKED UP

When Hans Kroeger was asked by the Reeve not to repeat all he said at previous council sessions on the ground the councilors were quite familiar with the argument, he said familiarity appeared to breed contempt and was checked by Councilor Thomas Hatfield, who pointed out the councilors were sympathetic and were doing their best.

Mr. Kroeger asked the councilors if they as men considered the direct relief of two dollars a month per man a fit sum to give a human being. "Immediate national demands" were for ten dollars per week for single men, fifteen dollars per week for married men and allowance for children.

Mr. Kroeger said he spoke for the Unemployed Council in presenting an ultimatum for direct relief in order to assure proper food, clothing and shelter during the winter. He said he was speaking as an individual working man when he stated he was determined his standard of living should be kept up. He had asked for meat one week and because he had been given goat's meat and refused it, he got nothing the next week. He had been refused permission to cut wood from a certain place. If he were to be denied the necessities of life, he was determined that whatever he wanted he would take, he said.

Reeve Heald said the municipality was doing the best it could and could not do anything more. The fight would have to be carried to higher quarters, he added.

URSULINES TO HOLD REUNION

Oldest Girls' School in Canada Invites Its Graduates For August 16

Monastery in Quebec Plans First Reunion in 300 Years

Quebec, July 19.—The finest families of the new world will be represented at the first reunion ever to be held by graduates of the 300-year-old Ursuline Monastery in Quebec, on August 16. Since the days of Champlain, the sisters of the monastery in the Rue St. Anne have trained in education and social graces girls who have been among the first women of the Americas.

These women will seek the old monastery by the route which their ancestors first took when they came up the St. Lawrence River. When the St. Roch and St. Charles dock at Quebec on August 16, there will be great-grandmothers, grandmothers, mothers, daughters, returning together to the monastery where all received their training, for it is a tradition in fine families to go to the Ursuline Monastery.

ARCHBISHOP TO ATTEND
Once a pupil graduates, however, she may not again enter the cloister. But as a special privilege for this first gathering of graduates the Mother General has given permission that all the alumnae may come again within the cloister and live one day as they did in their girlhood.

The Archbishop of Quebec will celebrate high mass in the historic old chapel, where hang some of the finest masterpieces in the world. There, too, are the tombs of Montcalm, of Father de la Potherie and the lay-brother Liegeux and Duperron—heroes who brought culture and progress to a new land.

FIRST IN CANADA
Following the celebration of mass, the several hundred graduates will go to the simple, austere refectory where they will again have the dishes which were their favorites during school days. Later there will be recreation, visits to the beautiful gardens—land deeded to the Ursulines when Champlain was governor of New France. And over in the quiet resting places of those devoted nuns who brought the first nursing service, the first girls' school to Canada.

A committee of the graduates of this 300-year-old monastery is arranging the programme which will be a series of entertainment and of rejuvenation, except for a short session at which plans for the tricentenary of the monastery will probably be discussed and the invitations sent all over the world to graduates to return to the monastery for a longer reunion than this first one. Over 2,000 graduates are invited to the gathering this summer, and several hundred have already accepted the invitation with further acceptance reaching the committee daily. Mrs. M. Drouin, 114 Maple Avenue, Quebec, Que., is the convener of transportation and reception for the graduates.

Lady Beatty Died Sunday

Dingley, Leicestershire, Eng., July 19.—Lady Beatty, wife of Earl David Beatty, died in her sleep yesterday evening.

She had been ill for several days and despite the efforts of the best physicians her condition grew steadily worse.

Ethel Field, only daughter of Marshall Field of Chicago, was married in 1901 to Earl Beatty, who subsequently became admiral of the British fleet and served with great distinction in the war.

She was prominent in London society and of late years had interested herself actively in philanthropic and public enterprises. Last year she assisted her son, Viscount Borsdale, in his campaign for the parliamentary seat representing Peckham. He was elected.

She was 68 years of age.

SOCIAL, PERSONAL AND HOME INTERESTS

GERMAN WRITER
SEES ROCKIESPicturesque Figure Making Extensive Visit to Banff and Lake Louise

Banff, July 19.—The Canadian Rockies have a visitor whose interest in them will remain long after his visit is completed in the person of Herr Johannes Mayrhofer, author and writer of travel books, who is staying at the Chateau Lake Louise, following a sojourn at the Banff Springs Hotel during the course of an extended trip to Canada and the United States.

Herr Mayrhofer, whose works include several novels, has already circled the globe and passed through the famous Canadian mountains which are mentioned in several of his books. His present intention is closer acquaintance with a view to comparative development, in another book, with other world-famous ranges. The visitor, tall, bearded and with an old-world courtliness all his own, is arousing considerable interest among other guests wherever he goes. He does most of his sightseeing alone and on foot. His English is useful, if not fluent, but he admits when pressed that he is intensely shy. A camera is his inseparable companion, and he spends his days, a picturesque figure in a long frock coat and Panama hat, stalking the trails and mountain passes, saying nothing but seeing much. His plans are indefinite, but he hopes to see Alaska before returning by easy stages to the Fatherland.

Former Saanich
Teacher Quietly
Wed In Kamloops

A wedding of much interest to Victoria friends of the principals was quietly solemnized at the home of Miss Agnes Emily Dunn, youngest daughter of Mrs. G. I. Dunn, 1919 Fernwood Road, Victoria, to Constable John Alexander Carmichael, eldest son of Mrs. Carmichael, Victoria, and the late H. C. Carmichael.

The bride, who has been a popular member of the teaching staff of the Saanich public schools, was given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. George H. Dunn of Kelowna, B.C. Mrs. B. W. Wolf attended as matron of honor, and Mr. Percy R. Fraser assisted the groom. The reception rooms where the ceremony took place were beautifully decorated with ferns and flowers. Following the signing of the register the bridal party and a few intimate friends partook of the wedding breakfast. A toast to the health of the bride and groom was proposed by Inspector W. L. Fernie, and replied to by Constable Carmichael. Mr. and Mrs. Carmichael will make their home in Kamloops.

Your Baby
and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The growing body has many demands. Food, water, rest, sleep, exercise, air and sun. No one of them can be subtracted from the total without serious consequences to the child. To other, each acting upon the other, they contribute to the well-being of the whole body.

FREE PLAY

The benefits of air and sun are accepted without argument. But knowing what to do and doing it are often in conflict with each other. "Only" children do not take kindly to being set out in the yard to play alone, and busy mothers cannot always sit beside them, to furnish companionship. Even playpens, which so successfully inhibit baby's gambols into the fascinating unknown, can be overdone. There should be free play as well as play which frees the mother from any necessity to be constantly on guard.

The baby of curious age who wants to investigate everything can be allowed this liberty at periods when the mother is at hand. Helping mother then becomes a subtle means of letting baby handle the objects he sees, and doing it in ways approved by mother. Carrying silver, smoothing the beds helping dress himself, washing face and dabbing at hair, and bringing wanted kitchen supplies are all effectual means of acquainting baby with his environment, satisfying his curiosity and keeping him happily busy.

OUTDOORS MOST OF DAY

Mrs. R. P. has an unusual baby who does not demand so much attention. She contends, and rightly, that many children do not get enough sunshine and air, and that their frequent appeallousness can be traced to this. In defence of her idea she says, "I follow your articles with unflagging interest. The leaflets you have sent me at different times have proved very helpful. I have a plump, healthy little girl of eighteen months. She has an excellent appetite and sleeps very well. She is particularly keen to care for, and is literally outdoors in her pen every waking moment, except when being dressed, bathed, or fed."

"I have several friends with children of the same age. Their children have such poor appetites, despite the fact that they are supposed to have sunbaths. After observing these cases I have concluded that the mothers do not know what proper sunbathing is. They think that one-half hour out of doors in the morning and a short walk with the child in the afternoon, while they shop, constitutes sunbathing. They take them in the house while they work. They think a child gets lonesome outdoors."

AFFECTS DISPOSITION

I believe that a child must learn to play alone happily, and not be around under a mother's feet while she is working. Do you agree, Mrs. Eldred? To be sure, the child does tumble occasionally or sits down hard on a block, but these accidents are trivial. Enough sun and air, as well as familiarity with birds and flowers, work wonders with a child's disposition."

As you can see, I agree, with reservations. Babies need to learn to play alone and also with companions, chiefly other children, and also in company with their mother. It depends on your own particular climate whether it is wise to leave a child out all day long. That, too, might not be an undisturbed blessing.

TWINS BORN TWO DAYS APART

Twins—but having different birthdays—were these two children of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Goetscher of Fanning, Kan., shown here with their mother. At 3:15 p.m. on a Saturday, the stark brought a 5½-pound girl to the Goetscher home, and at 1:30 p.m. on the following Monday he returned with a 6¼-pound boy. The father is a jobless war veteran.

PENDER ISLAND

Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Stebbings have returned to Vancouver after being guests of Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Menzies. The Misses Helen and Jean Davidson, with their guests, the Misses Marion Steele and Barbara Somerville, all of Vancouver, have been camping in their summer home at Clam Bay, Corporal Bruce Davidson of the R.C. M.P. was also with them for a short time this week.

Mrs. Maurice Quail and the Misses Verna and Louise Quail of Vancouver are guests of Mrs. Quail's sister, Mrs. D. G. MacDonald.

Mrs. P. W. Garrett was called south last week-end by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Detmers of San Diego. She traveled by air.

Master Jack Barton of Victoria is a guest for the holidays of Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Menzies.

At the recent school meeting no change was made in the personnel of the board. The ratepayers called for a 10 per cent reduction in the teachers' salaries. No new undertakings will be included in this year's estimates.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bowerman of Los Angeles, who formerly resided here, are spending a week with relatives on the island.

Mrs. Green and daughter, Peggy, are down again from Vancouver for a month's camp at Welcome Bay.

Mrs. Geo. Macdonald and children of Vancouver have returned to their home

FILM STAR AND HER DAUGHTER

Marylyn Hauoli Thorpe, who at three weeks has become quite a globe trotter, posed for her first outdoors picture on arriving in Los Angeles with her mother, Mary Astor, film star, the wife of Dr. Franklyn Thorpe. Baby Marylyn, who was born in Hawaii, is shown in her mother's arms.

REAL HE-MEN MAKE HARD RIDING WESTERNS
WHERE MEN ARE MEN AND ONE GUN'S SISSIFIED

By ROBERT GRANDON

"Dear Bob," one of my favored correspondents writes, "Note what you have been saying about stunt men and how they're paid. . . . Can you tell me what part these boys play in making westerns—real westerns? Do they double for the hard riding heroes, or no?"

Old Bob Grandon hastens to assure his favored correspondent that if it's a real, honest-to-goodness western, with he-men and golden haired heroines, there are no doubles. . . . Tom Mix, instance, never had a double in his life. Every stunt in which you have seen him was done by Tom Mix himself. . . . though Tony often helped, such as riding through a plateglass window.

The same holds good of Hoot Gibson. As a matter of fact, Hoot came to Hollywood as a stunt man and got his chance when the star broke his arm in an auto accident. One year he held the all-round cowboy championship at the Pendleton Rodeo. . . . and, believe me, that's some rodeo. . . . When he broke three ribs changing from a locomotive to an automobile, he went to the hospital. . . . but he came back for the retake.

Ken Maynard has a dozen silver buckles and medals for riding and roping in his circus days. He won the world championship for trick riding July, 1920, at Chicago.

Gary Cooper once was a western star. He's a crack rifle and revolver shot and spends plenty of time in the Los Angeles police pistol ranges. . . . Though recently he's been trying his skill on African lions.

Bob Custer is another who rides hard and sure and does his own stuff. . . . So does Tim McCoy, just as did the late Fred Thompson before him. . . . and Old Two Gun Bill Hart developed into a two-gun fighter though he had been brought up behind the footlights.

Will Rogers rides a mean broncho, dating back to his cowboy days before he went to Madison Square Garden to participate in a rodeo and snare a vaudeville contract with his lariat. . . . but Will never has used it in his screen stuff. . . . only polo.

You see, it's this way. . . . the stunt man comes to the rescue when the star is called upon to take chances out of his line. . . . but fellows like Tom and Hoot and Ken and Bob. . . . why, phaw! . . . it's all in the day's work and they don't even think they've earned their salary without they've recorded a thrill or two—or even three, perhaps.

Are you worried about your child's future? Robert Grandon's Horoscope Jetset may contain some good advice. Write for it enclosing two cents and stamped addressed envelope.

Doukhobor Women
On Hunger Strike

Doukhobor women prisoners confined in Nelson provincial jail have gone on a hunger strike, it was learned at the Parliament Buildings to-day. This action was precipitated when news of the deaths of two newly-born infants and an octogenarian, occurring at Oakalla within the past month, reached the nudist paraders incarcerated in the interior jail. Provincial police state the octogenarian succumbed to senile decay and that every effort had been put forth to save the lives of the infants, but without avail. Nelson authorities do not believe the hunger strike will be of long duration.

much juice as possible. Measure juice and use three cups of sugar to four cups juice. Bring juice to the boiling point and add sugar. Boil rapidly until the syrup sheets from spoon. Since no water was used in cooking the fruit it will take a very short time to cook the jelly. Remove from fire and skim and turn into sterilized jelly glasses. Cover with paraffine and when cold cover with a second layer of paraffine.

Astrakhan apples and, later in the season, crabapples make excellent jelly. They do not make as rich and colorful a jelly as currant, but they jelly naturally without the addition of pectin. If you want to make mint jelly for winter use, a tart apple jelly makes an excellent foundation.

MINT JELLY

Wash and cut apples in quarters, removing seeds. Put into a kettle and add water to half cover fruit. Cover and cook slowly until mushy. Turn into a jelly bag and let juice drip through. Measure juice and for each cup of juice use 2-3 cup sugar. Boil juice rapidly for five minutes, adding half a dozen sprigs of mint to each three cups of juice. Sift in sugar and cook until done. Remove from fire and add a few drops of green vegetable coloring to make the jelly a delicate green. Remove mint, skin and turn into sterilized jelly glasses. Cover with paraffine and when cold with a second layer of paraffine.

Ditmars Arranges Meeting of Two King Cobras, Who Are Hostile, Then Coy

Deadly Reptile Rears Up Four Feet and Strikes in Air When Released

New York, July 19.—The reptile house at the New York Zoological Park in the Bronx was the scene of a reception in honor of two king cobras, a score of pythons, mangrove snakes and other serpents arriving from Sumatra. Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, curator, and Keeper John Toomey officiated at the formal presentation of the cobras to the other 250 squirming, sinuous occupants of the big glass cases.

For years the Bronx Zoo has had only one king cobra. There have been spitting black cobras from Africa, vipers from all the tropical countries, rattlers of diverse shades and sizes, king snakes, bull snakes, blue racers and others, but the king cobra, most poisonous of its kind, has been alone. He has spread his great hood at times and now and again he has struck at imaginary enemies on the metal and glass walls of his home. He has undergone one surgical operation at the hands of Dr. Ditmars who removed thick scales from his eyes.

SNAKES ARRIVE BY TRUCK
Yesterday, about 5.30, the zoo truck drove up to the back door of the reptile house. Dr. Ditmars had been discussing the interesting fact that snakes never seemed to cross concrete roads. Keeper Toomey had just finished feeding the "Grapheis" turtles and iguanas a barrel of fresh lettuce and a few ripe casaba melons for dessert.

Over beyond a grove the keepers at the elephant house were feeding Peter the Great, the hippopotamus, his daily cereal. Peter, who, according to the elephant house crowd, is to have another birthday celebration to-day—he has been the guest at several birthday parties already this month—has developed a temperamental, fixations, inhibitions, complexes and the like. He refuses to be weighed.

If he got excited he would deliberately bump himself against something and he might kill himself," an attendant explained. "They do just that kind of thing. We don't weigh him."

But Peter, although a day and night

BRAVE DAYS OF OLD FRENCH REGIME RECALLED

The stirring battle of Carillon was commemorated recently when French and English-speaking Canadians shook hands where their forebears had fought battles 174 years ago and when a plaque recalling the last great victory of French in Canada was placed on the walls of the impregnable fort of Carillon at Ticonderoga, on Lake Champlain. Representatives of the two Canadian races of France and of the United States were present at the ceremony. In the upper picture can be seen the members of the general public together with the representatives of the Regiment de Mont Royal. Beneath on the left is the plaque in honor of De Lotbiniere, the builder of the fort and Vaudreuil, the last governor of New France. In front of it, are (left to right): Leon Marchal, acting Consul-General for France in Montreal, Brigadier Gibson, O.C.M.D., and Wesley Frost, Consul-General of the United States. On the right is Mrs. Pell, chateleine of the fort, accepting the plaque from the dogers. The fort has been in the Pell family for more than 100 years now.

guard watches over him to prevent suicide, lost the centre of the stage at the Zoo last night, and even to-day, it was prophesied, Dr. Ditmars still be the main attraction. With the hippopotamus ranking no higher than the Himalayan tigers, which were tearing up and down their rocky hills all the afternoon without attracting any attention.

"Bring the pythons and the other snakes right in, and let them stay in their crates to-night," Dr. Ditmars ordered. "We will introduce the cobra right now."

The cobras came all the way from Sumatra in square packing boxes, the lids padlocked. While Mr. Toomey cleaned out a tub and drew a fresh bath, another of the zoo hosts wrenched off the padlocks. Then cautiously he raised the lid. The customary wire screen was not in place, and as light entered through the raised top, a scaly diamond-shaped head shot upward like lightning, to bump its head nose against the lid as it was hastily dropped back and fastened again.

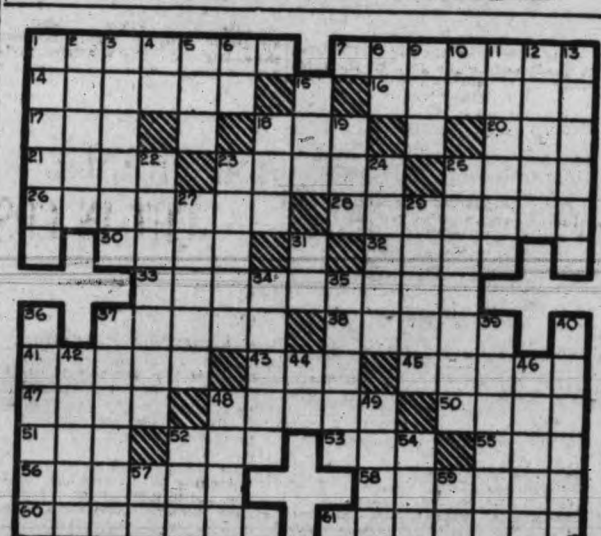

"That's one of them," said the attendant. He calmly picked up the box and carried it to the long corridor behind the glass show cases, pushed it into an empty cage and then again opened the box with a long snake stick.

KING COBRAS INTRODUCED
"Well, let's introduce the other chap to our own king cobra," said Dr. Ditmars. This operation required more care. It was first necessary to persuade the twelve-foot occupant of a two-room cage to gather his coils about him and move into one room or the other. He had been occupying both compartments.

"That's easy enough to do," said Mr. Toomey, and proceeded to illustrate by opening the door in back of the cages and thrusting a long bamboo pole inside. He then poked the cobra a few times and the snake moved into one chamber.

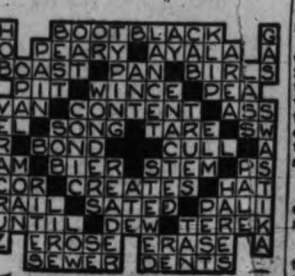

The second packing case was then

DANGER OF EATING SEED

Internal Obstruction Frequently Results From Swallowing Cherries

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

Sudden, complete obstruction of the bowels is always a serious condition. In most instances it is due to some anatomical change that has taken place such as the pushing of one loop of bowel inside another. Sometimes it is due to the action of bacteria or infection. Occasionally it may be due to the growth of tumors, and in a few instances is due to the taking of food which, by its bulk or other qualities, cannot be moved onward. In a recent review of the subject, Dr. Albert H. Elliott has collected a number of cases that are of great interest. Cherry stones, beans, figs, oats, potatoes, apple, corn, grapes, poppy seeds, sauerkraut, gooseberries, raisins, popcorn and bran are some of the food substances that have been incriminated in such obstructions.

The amount of time that passes between the eating of the food and the appearance of the obstruction may vary from one to 340 hours. In the average instance the first sign of obstruction appears in about twelve hours. In one case the entire lower bowel was filled by cherry stones, and in another case the lower portion of the bowel was found to contain 909 cherry stones.

This should be a warning not to swallow seeds, at least to that extent.

The physician makes his diagnosis on the basis of the symptoms which are usually quite definite. In the first place he finds out what foods have been eaten. In one case a boy had been eating whole cherries in a competition with other children.

Before the operation the mass of cherry stones could be felt through the abdominal wall. The X-ray picture easily reveals the place at which the obstruction has occurred, and in many instances the nature of the obstruction.

In several instances operation has been avoided by the injection of fluid into the lower bowel. In one instance large quantities of grape skins and seeds were washed out. In another case large amounts of popcorn were recovered after a period of a week.

Whenever a person complains of severe, sudden pain in the bowel with the appearance of shock, with a discontinuance of the passing of waste and sometimes with a discontinuance of the passing of gas, the physician must determine by the use of the X-ray and by other examinations whether or not obstruction exists.

If there is actual obstruction of the bowel he must take immediate measures to relieve the obstruction or death is inevitable.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

"Tarzan, the Ape Man," at last reaches the screen, with all of the thrills and breath-taking adventures of the famous Edgar Rice Burroughs story depicted in the picture which opened yesterday at the Columbia Theatre. Johnny Weissmuller, world's champion swimmer, who was cast in the title role because of his tremendous physical build, is excellent in the part, giving a vivid personification of the strange human being who was raised by the apes as one of their own. Others who give creditable performances in this engrossing story of adventure in the African jungle include Neil Hamilton, C. Aubrey Smith, Maureen O'Sullivan, Doris Lloyd, Forrester Harvey and Curtis Lane.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Three English players have important characterizations in "Three Wise Girls." Columbia attraction now at the Playhouse Theatre. They are Walter Byron, Jameson Thomas and Lucy Beaumont.

Walter Byron was first brought to Hollywood to play with Vilma Banky in "The Awakening." Later he enacted roles with Gloria Swanson, Dorothy Mackail, Richard Barthelmess and Lois Moran. He plays opposite Jean Harlow in the new Columbia picture.

Jameson Thomas, the suave Englishman of "Lover Come Back" and other productions, is one of the foremost British stage and screen stars, while Lucy Beaumont, who plays Jean Harlow's mother, is also widely known in her native England.

EMPIRE THEATRE

"White Paris Sleeps," at the Empire Theatre, features Victor McLaglen in what is said to be a robust, he-man drama of the Parisian underworld. The story revolves about the return of an escaped convict to the gay capital to rescue his daughter from an apache gang when she is thrown alone upon the streets following her mother's death. Helen Mack, as the daughter, portrays her first emotional role since being named one of the trio of Debutante Stars sponsored by Fox Films for the current season.

ROMANO THEATRE

Richard Tucker, now to be seen with John Boles, Genevieve Tobin and Lois Wilson at the Romano Theatre in a picture of Charles G. Morris's much-discussed novel, "The Girl Who Stopped Time," is entering the industry, but later changed his mind, and refused unsuccessfully to join the U.S. Cavalry. Even though he is in the theatre, and has been in theatricals ever since, spending the last few years in motion pictures.

Negro Boy Invents Kidnap-stopper

Knoxville, Tenn., July 19.—There will be no more kidnaping if wise mothers adopt the novel cradle alarm system perfected here by a fifteen-year-old Negro school boy, Samuel Bridges.

Sammy has been spending quite a bit of time recently on the development of his device and according to people who have seen it, it does the work, although it is a bit intricate. His alarm is a baby crib, equipped with a trap door and alarm bells connecting with the nurse's or mother's room and with the police station.

On an elevated place in the floor the crib sits. Stepping on this part of the floor starts the bells ringing all around the place, making enough noise to wake the neighborhood. Then a trigger is thrown which causes the cradle to drop a few inches and a lid to fall and lock itself down over the sleeping baby.

Suicide in England, without evidence of insanity, is considered a felony and if property left is taken by the state.

Objects appear colored only because they reflect only one color, while absorbing the rest.

Holding of a conference between representatives of the B.C. Telephone Company, the B.C. Electric Railway Company and the city and Real Estate Board to discuss elimination of duplicate overhead pole lines was decided by the City Council yesterday evening.

To avoid a collision with a bakery wagon at the corner of Cook Street and Queens Avenue yesterday afternoon, Matthew D'Iorio, 955 Caledonia Avenue, drove his car into the curb. The machine turned over after striking the obstruction but the driver sustained only minor bruises.

The president of the Seamen's Institute reported to the police yesterday afternoon that during the holding of a tag day by the organization on Saturday tag box number forty-six containing its collection was stolen from the tag headquarters in a vacant store on Port Street. Detectives are investigating.

Preparation of a by-law to authorize changing the name of Anderson Street, in Poul Bay, to Hollywood Place, was authorized by the public works committee of the City Council yesterday evening. There are now two "Anderson Streets" in the Greater Victoria area, and the change is planned to avoid confusion.

Boys and girls of school age throughout British Columbia are included in warm fraternal greetings sent to all overseas students by a mass meeting of children of the elementary schools of the city of London, held at the Guild hall recently. Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, states that if B.C. schools had been in session at the time the greetings would have been read to the pupils and a suitable reply given.

C.I.F. quotations on honey in bulk for bottling are wanted by a Belfast firm, writing the Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, according to a note received by the Provincial Publicity Bureau to-day. The Canadian Trade Commissioner in Buenos Aires has forwarded a request for prices on combs, bees, blisters, sheets, and electrolytic, also for quotations on twenty-five long tons of zinc ingots at 99 per cent and over a purity.

The drawing held in Vancouver by the Lower Mainland United Front Council to select a delegate for a free trip to Russia resulted in Mr. H. B. Hinchliffe being the lucky one. The holder of the ticket, Mr. H. B. Hinchliffe, is a resident of Vancouver, will be a guest of the Soviet Union as soon as he enters that country, and will accompany a delegation of the Friends of the Soviet Union in the fall. They will give a review of their experiences when they return, and their reports are eagerly awaited.

Invitations have been sent to about 175 persons in Victoria and vicinity to take part in the United Front Conference for the repeal of Section 98 and deportations, to be held at 751 West Street on Friday, at 8 o'clock. Already a large attendance has been shown and a large attendance is expected. Any organizations that have been overlooked, and are desirous of representation, may send delegates without a formal invitation.

After the recent preparation of a fresh provincial voters' list for Victoria, few applications for registration were received at the opening of the registration book yesterday. Under the new list, George H. Mabon, registrar, such applications as were received were for inclusion on the new list. No applications were received for deletion of names already recorded.

A basket picnic for unemployed and employed workers of Esquimalt, Victoria, and Nanaimo (west of Harriet Road) will be held on Sunday at the B.C. Electric Park at the Gorge. Contributions of cash or provisions of prizes are being solicited and lists will be found at different stores in these districts, or they will be called for by notifying H. Kroeger, 886 Craigflower Road, phone R 4246. Arrangements are being made for a good time for the kiddies, and tea and coffee will be served.

The lateness of summer, and the heavy rains of last week considerably interfered with the programme of the Yacht of the Vancouver Island Regatta Club, who are camping at Forbidden Plateau. A number of peaks were to be climbed, but it was thought inadvisable to attempt their ascent in view of the weather. According to reports, snow is still falling on the mountains, and there are heavy banks of snow in all directions.

With Rev. Bro. John Robson conducting the services, representatives from juvenile, men's and women's Orange lodges of Victoria and district gathered Sunday for the annual services of the Orangemen's Association in Metropolitan United Church. Afterward a wreath honoring Orangemen who fell in the World War was placed on the Cenotaph by Miss Ella Baron, senior past chairman of the juvenile lodge.

Tax collections in Esquimalt for the six months ending June 30 were $2.89 per cent of the levy, as compared with $5.39 per cent for the corresponding period in 1931. The levy was $81.10, and the collection amounted to $51,085.52, according to figures placed before the Esquimalt Municipal Council yesterday evening by G. H. Pullen, clerk, and tax collector. A sum of $5,047.38 was collected on a sewer rate and rental levy of $11,623.27. This is a 57.19 per cent collection as compared with a 62.06 one for the first six months of 1931.

In a message to Charles Earle, Victoria general passenger agent for the C.N.R., the party of twenty-five Victorians who are en route to Glasgow for the Robert Burns Reunion to be held in the Scottish metropolis said they were "having a perfectly wonderful time." PETITION TO SAVE BOULEVARD TREES

Cutting Down Would Destroy
Cook Street Beauty, Residents Claim

With a view to preventing a decision of the park commission to cut down chestnut trees that line Cook Street from Fort Street to Marine Drive, a petition is being signed by residents claiming destruction of the trees would remove one of the natural beauties of Victoria, and would not be a step in the best interests of the city.

It is understood the life of the trees is threatened on the grounds the chestnut trees are used as boulevard decoration and the continued removal of the practical difficulties need not require the removal of the trees.

Partly because of the Cook Street situation and also to combat future proposals of a similar nature, a group of citizens are endeavoring to form a society for the preservation of the natural beauties of Victoria. Madeline A. B. Vivent is one of those opposing the threatened destruction of the trees.

VETERANS WILL TAG SATURDAY

The Disabled Veterans are making their first appeal to the citizens of Victoria. On Saturday next the Canadian Pensioners are holding a tag day in an endeavor to raise funds, having no other source of revenue than membership dues, and as the majority of the members are unable to pay their dues.

The purpose of the association is to take up with the government the question of adjustment of pension and such other claims as may arise when members of the association are fairly considered to be entitled thereto. The association has been the means of bringing to this province more than $40,000 in pension adjustments. There are no paid officers in the association and all the work is done gratis, and both members and non-members of the auxiliary are working hard to make the tag day a success. Mrs. F. F. Osborn, 2034 Poul Bay Road, will be convenor, and requests that any ladies who would like to lend a helping hand can do so by telephoning G 5255.

Funeral services for Mrs. Julia Dorcas Sinclair, who passed away yesterday at the age of eighty-six years, will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, where Rev. A. G. Owen will conduct the service. Interment will be made in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Birthday Greetings Are Extended To-day To—

MRS. MARGARET SHAW
ROBERT "BOB" VIPOND
FRED BUXTON
WARREN WILMOT WATERSON

Mrs. Margaret Shaw of 1190 May Street is receiving the congratulations of her many friends on her seventy-ninth birthday to-day. Mrs. Shaw has lived in Victoria for twenty-one years, coming here in 1911 from New Jersey. A native of Scotland and proud of it, one of Mrs. Shaw's earliest memories is the tour made by the late King Edward and Queen Alexandra at the opening of the bridge over the Kelvin. Though but a small girl at the time, Mrs. Shaw still recalls the wild enthusiasm shown by the staid Glasgow folk on that historic occasion.

Robert "Bob" Vipond, of 2532 Government Street, will celebrate his birthday to-morrow. He was born in Wellington, B.C., 1879, and played football for Nanaimo when Alderman James Adam was a teammate. Nanaimo won the championship of British Columbia in 1902-03, and "Bob" was one of the stars that year. He has taken part in every line of sport from track to wrestling, and still takes an interest in baseball. He is chairman of the sports committee for the Tillamook Amateur Athletic Club, and vice-president of the Tillamook Athletic Club. He is the proud possessor of numerous medals and cups which he has won in his youth in the different lines of sport.

Mr. Watson is proprietor of The Watson Press. Since the death of his father, H. G. Watson, pioneer printer, which occurred two years ago, his son has owned and operated the business which is situated at 1215 Broad Street. This business was established over forty years ago. Mr. Watson went overseas with the Canadian Expeditionary Force, and was later connected with the Royal Flying Corps. He is a member of the Gyro Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is married and lives at 929 Empress Avenue.

Mr. Buxton, who is receiving birthday congratulations to-day, has the distinction of being the father of the largest Victoria born family on Vancouver Island. He is an ex-sergeant in the Canadian army. He makes his home at Sooke.

DIES IN HOSPITAL

At the Jubilee Hospital this morning the death occurred of Mrs. Florence Margaret Clyde, widow of Edwin Edgemoor, of the Victoria Police Force, and a member of the Victoria Police Force. She was born in London, England, seventy-nine years ago, and had been residing at 364 Sunset Avenue, Oak Bay. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

ASK DRASTIC CUT IN COST

Hinchliffe Speaker at Public Meeting To-night to Vote on Education Resolution

Demand that the cost of education be slashed in half, and that the province assume the entire burden of education, raising the necessary revenue solely by means of an education tax on a wide basis, will feature the public meeting to be held this evening at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, under the auspices of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association and by the Taxpayers' Economy League of Vancouver Island, will be submitted for endorsement.

"Be it resolved as follows: 1. That the cost of education throughout the province should be immediately reduced by at least fifty per cent."

"2. That in the opinion of this meeting the responsibility for providing education is that of the province, and the Provincial Government should assume such responsibility and relieve the municipalities thereof."

Pioneer Woman Missionary Dies

Vancouver, July 19.—Mrs. Carrie James, aged seventy-three, old-time resident of Mount Pleasant district, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at her home, East Twelfth.

HOPE SEEN FOR FUTURE

Prof. F. H. Soward, U.B.C., Takes Optimistic View of Current Conditions

Hopeful signs before a world on the verge of catastrophe in the realms of economics were seen by Prof. F. H. Soward, head of the department of history at the University of British Columbia, in an address in which he reviewed current conditions and matters relating to the Lausanne conference before the Kiwanis Club at its luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

Among the most optimistic signs was the attitude of the United States, which was being gradually won over to the spirit of forgiving its debtors in Europe as European countries were disposed to excuse those who owed them money.

If world armaments were reduced materially at the next disarmament session in the fall, the spirit of cancellation of debts would receive a terrific and beneficial incentive, Professor Soward said.

NOT SELF-CONTAINED
Moreover, the United States was feeling the pinch of the depression. The country was realizing it could not exist as a self-contained entity. Many industrial leaders of that nation were considering the breaking down of tariff walls and cancellation of debts.

The machinery for recovery was on hand, Prof. Soward stated. Industry was capable of recovery. Education was going ahead along constructive lines. Money was cheap, he added, referring to the rates in the leading financial centres of the world.

As the different countries realized more fully the suicidal effect of high tariff walls, they would be broken down, he said.

He looked to the Imperial Economic Conference to see the reduction of tariffs between sister Dominions, but not to the increase of barriers against other countries. The great nations still had a chance to pull themselves from the verge of the catastrophe on which they tottered, the speaker said.

Prof. Soward spoke of the great number of highly publicized conferences throughout the world since 1919. Many of them had broken down ignominiously. But as far as he could see, Lausanne would be an exception to the general failure of most gatherings.

KIDD REPORT AWAITS PREMIER

Publication Not Expected Before August; Committee May Be Consulted First

The impression that the Kidd report cannot be published by the provincial government, some time August now prevails at the Parliament Buildings. Members of the cabinet have stated that the document will not be issued by the government until after the return of Premier Tolinie from Ottawa.

Up to the present the report has been perused only by Hon. R. H. Pooley, Premier, Hon. S. L. Howe and Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe.

All agree that no comment can be made at this time, in part, because they expect the Kidd committee will have to be consulted prior to publication.

Certain of the suggestions are understood to require action by the Legislature. Some of the suggestions are urged for immediate application, a course which would require a special session of the Legislature.

Province Submits Complete Brief of Industry to Economic Conference at Ottawa

Premier Tolinie has been equipped with full data regarding empire trade opportunities by British Columbia, and will pass the material to the Dominion Government for inclusion in the case for Canada. Hon. N. S. Loughheed has announced that the final terms of the British Columbia trade brief was yesterday dispatched to Premier Tolinie at Ottawa.

Compilation of the material was performed by a special staff under the direction of P. G. Cameron, secretary of the province, which had made available material which he believed would greatly aid in making the most of the case for the province.

Adverse U.S. Reports Felt At Winnipeg In Higher Prices

Winnipeg, July 19 (Canadian Press).—Unfavorable weather reports from the United States northwest gave a boost to wheat prices here today. Strong throughout, the market showed gains of 1/2 cent at the close.

July closed at 53 1/2; October at 56 1/2, and December at 58 1/2.

The extreme weather of the past week has brought on considerable deterioration in the spring crop area, reports stated.

The market here early showed a tendency to work to higher levels. Opening unchanged, prices edged higher on reports of some export work overnight. New York reported upwards of 700 bushels of wheat sold to foreign buyers, including a full cargo of Manitoba.

Broomhall confirmed sales of Canada wheat and it was believed a good quantity of No. 2 Northern had been contracted for. No estimate of the amount was available.

Reports of continued rains in Russia and France where the harvest is in progress, added to the bullish sentiment. Another constructive factor was the report that Russia was buying flour from Australia in addition to wheat.

Broomhall showed the combined crops of Germany, France, Greece, Holland and Belgium at a figure 5,000,000 bushels larger than a year ago. Balkan crops will yield little for export. Cash wheat sold at approximately 1 1/2 higher. Export in barley and rye featured coarse grains. Prices generally were unchanged.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)
Winnipeg, July 19.—Wheat: With an improved export business overnight and this morning's sales of Canadian wheat estimated at 750,000 bushels, and numerous unfavorable reports regarding crop deterioration being recorded from southern and central Saskatchewan and from the United States, spring wheat territory all combined to give the wheat market a firmer tone today and after opening unchanged prices gradually worked higher until they were 1/2 higher than previous close. Offerings in the main were quite light but increased on the bulge with some selling by locals and some for eastern account.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Mail-order Wife Always a Remnant and Usually a Bad Bargain—Law Forbidding Divorce on Grounds of Insanity Works Great Injustice and Should Be Repealed, Declares Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX—I am thinking of advertising in a matrimonial journal for a wife. What do you think of the plan? E. Z.

Answer—All to the good. Matrimony is full enough of risks without adding another chance to it by getting a mail-order wife that you take sight unseen.

When you are contracting to spend the next thirty or forty years with a woman, you want to look her over carefully before you sign on the dotted line and find out everything you possibly can about her disposition, and tastes and habits, and industry and thrift, and what school of cooking and religion she has been brought up in, if any. For on the knowledge thus gained you must base your guess as to whether you will suit each other and be happy and companionable.

Even when a man has made mud pie with a girl in kindergarten and scrapped with her through grammar school and dated her through high, it is hard enough for him to get a real line upon her. She has little peculiarities and ways and eccentricities of temper and temperament hidden away that he never suspected were concealed about her angelic person, and marriage brings these out as a hot poultice does the measles.

So if a man who has known a girl all her life cannot tell what he is getting when he picks one out for a wife, what chance has a man who marries a woman the first time he ever sees her and whom he recognizes by her having a white scar on her forehead?

It really does not matter what kind of woman a man marries. The thing that is important is getting one that suits him, and the only way to test congeniality is by the application thereof. A man has to sit and chin with a woman by the hour to ascertain whether she is an entertaining companion or a bore. He has to play cards with her to know whether her bridge will endear her to him, or incite him to murder. He has to eat her cooking before he can tell whether he is willing to trust his digestion to her or not.

And these things cannot be found out in a school of correspondence. Some of the most fluent letter writers are the poorest performers and never even try to make good on the high-flown sentiments they express when they take pen in hand and dip grandly into the ink as Barrie says.

Besides, the mere fact that a woman has to advertise for a husband is indication in itself that she is on the bargain counter and has been passed over by the men in her community.

Some, of course, are women of irreproachable character, all silk and a yard wide, but who did not happen to be a pretty pattern, or have the right colored hair, or for some reason failed to hit the finicky masculine taste and who, seeing they were leftovers, have taken this way of trying to force themselves on the matrimonial market. But many other of the women who advertise for husbands are adventuresses who prey on the gullible and optimistic gentlemen who believe their statements that they are beautiful and wealthy ladies who are taking that way of finding mates.

So, Mr. E. Z., if you want to marry, pick out a wife from among the women you have known for a long time. Right around the corner you will find a girl who is just as good looking, just as intelligent, just as domestic as exists anywhere in the world, and she will have the added advantage of having the same tastes and habits. And you will know what you are getting, which you will not know if you marry a stranger. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a young woman. My husband is hopelessly insane. The specialists say there is no possibility of him ever being better. He is confined in an institution and I have not seen him for years. The question is: Must I live my life alone? Must I never have any male society because the law says I am a married woman and refuses a divorce to me from an insane husband? I live in a small town in which I am well known and to avoid criticism I have to be so careful that I hardly dare speak to a man, and yet I crave the society and attentions of men and feel that I have a right to them, for my husband is dead to me. There is nothing that I can do but stay at home and brood over my unhappy lot and I am getting morbid. What do you suggest? N. B. Z.

Answer—It has always seemed to me that hopeless insanity should almost automatically sever the marriage bond, and that it is a cruel and unjust thing to bind a sane man or woman for life to a raving lunatic in an asylum.

There is no other tragedy greater than that of a mental breakdown, not only for the poor victims, but for those who must go through their Gethsemane with them before the final catastrophe takes place; who must go through years of trying to cheer up a hypochondriac, or years of enduring wild and senseless rages; or years of combating needless suspicion; years of seeing a once beloved person lose all semblance of humanity and sink into the beast. Often I have thought that the husband and wife, with clear mind and all their faculties alert, suffered more than the poor, dull-witted creature whose mind was slipping its moorings.

But surely, after having gone through this torture, and having done all that was humanly possible to do to save the reason of their mates, when the fight is over and the battle lost, and scientists know that there is no possible hope that a man or woman will ever be again anything but a gibbering lunatic, it is not fair to further wreck the life of the husband or wife by binding him or her to what is to all intents and purposes a corpse.

Of course, it may be objected that if insanity were cause for divorce, innocent people might be clapped into asylums by husbands and wives anxious to be rid of them, but this danger seems to me to be negligible. When you can get a divorce for anything under the sun except insanity, why go to nefarious means to achieve an end so easily obtained? And why go to the expense of bribing doctors and courts when all you have to do to be freed of a mate of whom you are tired is to plead incompatibility of temperament, or mental cruelty or something else that deals in glittering generalities, and that would be both easier and cheaper than a commitment to a sanatorium.

That the present law works great harm on many people no one will deny. I have in mind a case with which I have been familiar for many years. A fine and gifted young man married a girl who two years later became hopelessly insane. He spent a fortune in trying to have her cured, but without avail, and at last she became dangerous and had to be put in an asylum.

A broken and saddened man, he led a lonely life for years and then finally he fell in love with a splendid young woman, who returned his affections.

But he was bound to the wraith of the woman in an asylum and could not marry the girl. She loved him too well to marry any other man and so they have lived their desolate, frustrated lives apart, missing the happiness they might have had, depriving the world of the beautiful home and the fine children they might have had because of this cruel and unjust law.

Many others, not so strong and high-minded as these, this law drives into immortality, and it is time it was repealed. DOROTHY DIX.

Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, JULY 20, 1932

Beneficent planetary aspects are strong today, according to astrology. It is a lucky day to sell, but it is better to delay buying. In the morning hours there may be news of national import, it is forecast, and for this reason it is wise to postpone any big risk in business enterprises. The seers caution men and women of affairs to occupy the middle ground between what is speculative in business and what is unduly conservative. This is read as not altogether promising for new ventures in business, although there is much possibility for success when more kindly stars prevail.

Under this planetary government there may be more or less speculation where the investment of capital is concerned, but the seers counsel wise waiting, since the stars promise great business stimulation in the autumn. Astrologers stress the importance for employers to organize for increase of business and professional activity. There is a good sign for those who lay foundations in new projects made alluring by recent inventions or discoveries. Women to-day should benefit from the energizing planetary influences, which should enable them to carry out whatever plans are nearest their hearts.

The rule seems to presage happiness for parents, since in the rising generation are many leaders of the future who even now manifest super gifts.

If the stars are wisely interpreted there is danger at hand a world change of supreme significance, and it will open to the young supreme opportunities. This should be an auspicious direction of the stars for lovers, young and old. Again it is foretold that men and women past middle age will be extremely susceptible to romance.

Under the stress and strain of these latter days the fear of loneliness and the longing for companionship that means sympathy will cause an extraordinary number of marriages among persons past the prime of life astrologers foretell. Persons whose birthdate it is have today a year of curious and surprising experiences. It is well to be on guard, even through plans prosper. Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly ambitious, imaginative and individual. Many poets and artists belong to this sign. Camille Corot, famous painter, was born on this day, 1797. Others who have celebrated a birthday include Petrarch, 1364, Italian poet; Madame Fanny Januschek, 1830, tragedienne.

LIPS OF PEOPLE SEALED BY FEAR

Canadian Press.
Rossburn, Man., July 19.—In their search for the murderer of Forest Ranger Lawrence Lees, police have to contend with a defence of stubborn silence on the part of residents of Riding Mountain National Park. They are convinced the lips of those who might give information are sealed by fear and intimidation.

Mrs. Lees, terribly wounded in the face by a bullet from the same rifle which killed her husband, is in hospital, taxing her memory to recall circumstances of the shooting for the aid of the police. Motive of the killing is now believed to have been the desire of the slayer to ward off a prosecution for some offence on which Lees was about to lay information.
